

Internet Marketing Strategies

Marketing is no longer about shouting your message to as many people as possible; it is about finding and connecting with only those people who are interested in your product, service or mission. Join Zeb Welborn of Welborn Media for an interactive seminar that will show you how to effectively use the internet to grow your network and turn your small business into a social business. Topics to be discussed include, improving your search engine ranking, creating engaging content for your business blog, and using social media sites like Facebook, Google+ and LinkedIn to connect with current and potential clients, customers and partners.
